

The US-Iranian Conflict on January 28, 2026
 News from reliable social media collected by Ulysses blueprinteditor.blogspot.com wolfgang-wiesner.info

Map of US military units deployed to encircle Iran.

Iran threatening to close the Strait of Hormuz in case of an immediate military attack.

2 Iranian submarines reported to be on their way to Hormuz. Another source later spoke of 10 submarines to be deployed. Published on January 25.

Above: The journey of USS Abraham Lincoln and its carrier group from the South-China Sea to the Gulf of Oman has been delayed due to reasons concerning the aircraft carrier's security in a volatile situation. [The Middle East on X, published on January 24]

Below: Opinion from the Iranian establishment: Finally, an opportunity to fight America.

One of the comments is quoting the Holy Quran (Sura 41:15/16) where it mentions two ancient peoples, the Ad and the Thamud, who were in high spirits because of the earthly power they held. And Allah sent a screaming wind to punish them for their arrogant attitude. At the same time it is mentioned that afterlife punishment will be even more severe.

Abu Ali, the author of that comment, is using the picture of an antique battle scene for his profile. It is showing an unequal battle where the attacked are expected to lose. Published on January 26.

Comment from a member of the Yemeni armed forces.
Published on January 24.

Iran's Strategy of Defense:

Military filling of the "Turkmenistan Gap" in the north, jamming of foreign aircraft and defense from airborne incursions at the Iraqi border, securing military presence in the Strait of Hormuz, together with in-depth protection of internal Iranian infrastructure, these are the main goals of Iran's military forces. The above quoted X-post was presented by a Lebanese journalist on January 24.

SAHEL Brut

@

⋮

Translated from French Show original

🇨🇳 🇮🇷 🇹🇷 Secret deliveries or a declaration of war?

Fourteen Chinese cargo planes landed in Iran in just forty-eight hours, in complete silence. Transponders switched off, invisible routes, operations impossible to track. According to several unofficial reports, Beijing may have secretly delivered state-of-the-art military equipment to Tehran, right at the moment when tensions are exploding in the region. This could possibly involve components of the Chinese HQ-9 air defense system, one of the most advanced in the world. Is China discreetly arming Iran to shift the military balance in the Middle East, or preparing an indirect confrontation with the United States and its allies?

Rate this translation: ⬤ ⓘ

Secret missile delivery from China, reported on January 26.

From an Arabic intelligence account: Internet connectivity has been restored on January 27. It is, however, still heavily filtered in a situation of high alert.

← Post

Reply

Trump is playing for high stakes. He wants to solve three tasks in one blow: collapse oil in favor of the US, bring China to its knees, and cut Russia off from the South. If he succeeds - the multipolar world will die before it's even born. In its place will come a world of harsh dictatorship of a single hegemon, where everyone else is a vassal.

The pause before the strike is not peace. It's a breath before the explosion that will determine the future for a hundred years to come. Watch Tehran. There, the clock of our entire civilization is ticking.

P.S. And maybe this will just be a last, desperate effort of a dying empire. And Iran will be the straw that breaks its back.

© WarPeaceAndYou

9:55 PM · Jan 27, 2026 · 39.8K Views

The ultimate comment bringing it to the point.
I found it among several 'no-name' sites dealing with war strategies.
Published on X on January 27, 2026